DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1 and 6 ^{are} rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Brehmer et al. US 2003/0133627.

3. Re claim 1, Brehmer discloses an image sensor (fig. 1 element 101) using correlated double sampling technology (fig. 1 element 130) which outputs data of an object by using difference between a reset voltage signal and a data voltage signal of a unit pixel, comprising: a plurality of unit pixels (fig. 1 element 110) arranged in a matrix, each outputting the reset voltage (figure 1 element 111) signal and the data voltage signal (fig. 5 element 521); a plurality of clamping means (fig. 5 element 150), each coupled to each unit pixels (each clamp circuit is coupled to each unit pixel because the clamp circuit is coupled to each column output of every unit pixel, therefore inherently the clamp circuit is coupled to each unit pixel) for clamping up the reset signal to a predetermined voltage level (para 0031); and a voltage controlling block (fig. 9c element 152) for adjusting voltage level supplied to a gate of each of clamping means (para 0035).

Re claim 6, Brehmer further discloses the image sensor as recited in claim 1, wherein each clamping means is included in each column of the matrix and one voltage controlling block is in whole chip of one image sensor (claim limitation has already been discussed and rejected, see claim 1).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 2-5 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Claim 2 further recites "The image sensor as recited in claim 1, wherein the voltage controlling block includes: a D/A converting means for receiving a digital code and outputting an analog voltage; a first switch coupled between the D/A converting means and the clamping means and controlled by a first control signal; and a second switch coupled between a ground voltage and the clamping means and controlled by the inverse first control signal." The prior art of record fail to anticipate or render obvious the above limitations as claimed. The same applies to claims 3-5.
